

"Yet a Little While"

"The indignation shall cease." "He that shall come will come, and will not tarry." By Tony Harriman Eleven times this idea appears in both the Old and New Testament: "Yet a little while." If you have one of those Bible apps, search those few words; you'll see that the context is one of "an end"—an end to the current order of things, and an end to all things harmful. Thank God, Amen and Hallelujah!

As we step into this New Year we face many challenges, most notably how we may live in a world so broken and not be dragged into its worthless turmoil. But there are other, perhaps more pressing, pitfalls that await us in the dark.

As parents and grandparents we have the daunting task of helping our children and grandchildren navigate a world with which we have no experience. Young people today face awful social, technological and economical challenges that didn't exist a decade ago. There is no manual for many specific situations that befall children and youth the world over. Bewilderment abounds.

There is, however, one rule of thumb that we can count on in every situation: TRUTH. Jesus said, "I am the way, the truth and the life: no one comes to the Father, but by Me." John 14:6. What is the truth? you ask. Simple: truth is truth when the claim matches the facts and the reality. You may hear voices claim that there are many ways to God and to Heaven; even ancient Christian religious institutions have recently embraced the idea that all religious ideas pave a direct path to God. But does this match reality? Is that the idea you get from the Sacrifice of the Only Son of God? I'm sure you'll agree that if all religious ideas lead to God, then the Sacrifice of Jesus really would have been unnecessary.

Make a distinction here: there are many ways to Jesus. In His own words, Jesus declared that, "If I be lifted up ... I will draw ALL unto me." John 12:32. Since we, by nature, are so far from God, only God Himself, in the Person of His Son, could show us the way back to the Father. No lama, no rabbi, no pope, no imam, no guru, etc., is able to lead a human being to the Father. Jesus is the only One Who came FROM the Father, and Jesus is the only One Who knows the way BACK to the Father. That's a truth upon which you may safely rest.

So where do we go for truth?
To the Bible.
Where do we find Jesus?
In the Bible.
Why do we need Jesus?
Because without Him, there is no hope for humanity.

As Christians we have a duty to watch for coming trouble. Why? Because if we are aware, we may sound a note of alarm, so that there may be a minimum amount of damage or loss. Sad to say, many professed Christians today are more caught up in political figures than in the politics. Like it or not, politics make the world go 'round; street lights, paved roads and libraries are the result and fruit of political discussion. But if you find yourself more involved in discussions surrounding this political character, or that News personality, you've got far too much time on your hands. As a Christian, you don't have time for such wrangling. Don't waste your life looking for truth from the news media, religious or political figures. Rather, spend your time learning the truth, and looking for ways to scatter that truth—near and far.

The books we share with the public and make available for you to include in your evangelistic arsenal are loaded with elevating thoughts and themes that, not only refresh the soul, but also lead readers to the only truths that matter: that our Father is the only Creator of this world and everything in it; that He does, in fact love us, enough to send His Son to die for us; that we are all of equal value, and that He is preparing to return to this speck of a rock we call home to reclaim us. Share those truths; they may not be popular, but they are real, and they definitely match the reality.

Not long, now, and He that shall come, will come. Hold on tight!
